At the request of the Government of India and with the approval of His Highness, the Emergency Regulation VII of 1937^(was passed) on 28th February 1937, whereby the excise duty on sugar other than palmyra and - - Khandasari sugar was increased from one rupee five annas to two rupees per cwt. in order to equalise the duty in Mysore and in British India, and this Regulation will expire in the usual course on 28th August 1937. In British India, the duty on Khandasari sugar also was raised from annas ten to one rupee and five annas per cwt. and the Indian Finance Act, 1937, provides for the continuance of these duties at the enhanced rates after 28th August 1937. It has therefore become necessary to pass legislation in Mysore so that the duties on different classes of sugar may be maintained at the same levels as in British India. With this object in view a draft bill has been prepared with the concurrence of the Dewan and the First Member of Council.

A BILL TO AMEND THE SUGAR (Excise Duty)
REGULATION, II of 1934.

* * * * *

Whereas it is expedient to revise the Excise Duty on Sugar, it is hereby enacted as follows:-

Short title and commencement:

1. (1) This Regulation may be called the Sugar (Excise Duty) Amendment Regulation, 1937.

(2) The Sugar (Excise Duty)
Amendment Emergency Regulation, VII of 1937, is hereby repealed.

Amendment of Section 3:

2. In sub-section (2) of Section 3
of the Sugar (Excise Duty) Regulation, 1934 -

(a) in clause (i) for the words
"ten annas" the words "one rupee and five annas" shall be substituted, and

(b) in clause (ii) for the words
"one rupee and five annas" the words
"two rupees" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Excise Duty on Sugar (other than Khandsari and Palmyra Sugar) both in British India and in Mysore was one Rupee and five annas per cwt. The duty was raised to two Rupees in British India with effect from 28th February 1937. If the duty in Mysore had ^{to be} not been similarly raised ^{to avoid} the Government of India ~~would have levied~~ an import duty equal to the difference on the Mysore Sugar exported to British India, ~~and such an action on the part of the Government of India~~ ^{as it} would have been a serious hindrance to the free movement of sugar from the Mysore State. An emergency Regulation was therefore passed here on 28th February 1937 raising the duty from one Rupee and five annas to ~~two~~ two Rupees per cwt.

Section 3 of the Indian Finance Act, 1937 ~~provides not only for the raising of the duty as stated above but also contains~~ a provision for raising the duty on Khandsari Sugar from ten annas to one Rupee and five annas.

As the emergency Regulation expires on 28th August 1937 and as the enhanced duty ^{have to} will be in force ~~in British India~~ after that date also, this bill is designed to empower Government to levy the duty at the revised rates.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Excise Duty on Sugar (other than Khand-sari and Palmyra Sugar) both in British India and in Mysore was one rupee and five annas per cwt. The duty was raised to two rupees in British India with effect from 23th February 1937. The duty in Mysore had to be similarly raised to avoid the Government of India levying an import duty equal to the difference on the Mysore Sugar exported to British India, as it would have been a serious hindrance to the free movement of sugar from the Mysore State. An emergency Regulation was therefore passed here on 23th February 1937 raising the duty from one rupee and five annas to two rupees per cwt.

Section 3 of the Indian Finance Act, 1937 contains a provision for raising the duty on Khandsari Sugar from ten annas to one rupee and five annas.
